John Evans (1950 – 2020) was a trapshooting enthusiast and promoter of the sport. As a participant in the shooting sports for many years, John introduced the sport to his children and welcomed new people into the activities. John was a mentor and friend to student athletes in the SCTP program and encouraged them to continue the sport and seek excellence in their efforts.

John's crowning moment for trapshooting was his involvement in the design and development of the World Shooting and Recreation Complex in Sparta, IL. This site hosts many national events, including the Grand American – the World Trapshooting Championship, brought to Illinois from Vandalia, OH in 2006. The WSRC is the largest trapshooting site in the world, featuring 120 trap fields stretching 3.5 miles. The site also is the location of the ATA national headquarters.

John tragically died in 2020. In an attempt to honor his love and passion for trapshooting, and the youth who are the future of the sport, we are hosting the John D Evans Memorial Shoot. The benefits of this shoot will go the Edgewood Scholastic Trapshooting Team.

We wish to thank John's wife, Rita, daughter, Amber and son, JD, for allowing us to host this event in John's honor.
